

“Cadillac Tax” Delayed Until 2022

President Trump has signed the Extension of Continuing Appropriations Act, which (among other things) delays implementation of the “Cadillac Tax,” the Affordable Care Act’s excise tax on high-cost employer-sponsored health coverage, until 2022. Previously, this tax – which would impose a 40% tax on plans that cost more than $10,200 (for self-only coverage) and $27,500 (for family coverage) – was set to become effective in 2020.
